Grass Creek church to celebrate centennial

The Grass Creek United Methodist Church will celebrate its 100th year of existence Sunday, October 30. The original church was organized as a United Brethren congregation in 1875 and met in a district schoolhouse until the first church was built at Round Lake Cemetery.

In October of 1910, the cornerstone was laid for a new church building in Grass Creek, a town which had developed after the completion of the railroad from Logansport to Culver in 1883. Rev. J. D. Coverstone was the pastor and dedication took place on September 9, 1911. The new church was built at a cost of $7,100. In 1946 the church merged with the Evangelical United Church (Evangelical United Brethren) and in 1968 united with the Methodist Church to become a part of the United Methodist denomination.

On Sunday, October 30, the regular Sunday school classes will start at 9:30 a.m. followed by a worship service at 10:30 a.m. with Pastor Jan Moyer. The Ladies Aid will serve lunch at noon with an afternoon program beginning at 1 p.m. featuring "Soldiers Again", a men's vocal group and words from former pastors and members.

Everyone is invited to attend all or part of the centennial celebration.

Director Brad Glasson has reviewed the sewer rates and they will stay the same for the next two years unless something unforeseen comes up.

Porter and his wife, Phyllis, will attend a presentation by the DNR about funding from the Lair program. Porter noted that the weeds did not make a comeback. The algae was really bad this year. Most women are aware of recommendations to get mammograms to detect any abnormalities, although many do not follow that advice. TWENTY YEARS AGO October 31, 1991

The James F. Talbott VFW Post will host a get-together Saturday, November 9, beginning at 5 p.m. to honor Jon Sailors. Jon has been town marshal for Kewanna since January 1989 and will be leaving that position today.

A tulip tree in the Verlin Kinsletter Jr.'s back yard was struck by lightning Friday afternoon. Verlin Sr. and son, Nick, were standing in the doorway of the former's trailer home when the lightning hit. They did not see the actual strike, but did see the tree explode, sending debris up to 150 feet away.

Services were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Hartzler Funeral Home, Rochester, for Lois M. Teeter, 68, Rochester. She is survived by her husband, Robert V. Teeter; two daughters, Donna Koebcke and Judy Collins of here; two sons, William, Madison, Wisconsin, and James, Bluffton; 11 grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren.

JoAnn Kimble and Mark and A.J. attended the Colts-Jets football game at the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis recently.

JoAnn Kimble hosted a birthday party Monday evening for her son, Mark, who was celebrating his 8th birthday. Guests for cake and ice cream were Dorese Leydet, Jerry Kimble, Larry and Bev Kimble, Terry and Michael, Dana Dimmock and A.J., Stephanie Baldwin and Tina Molitor.

Beth Weller, Ruth Ann

Anderson, Mildred McColey and Lois Kumlner enjoyed their annual overnight trip last Tuesday and Wednesday. They visited Elwood, Atlanta, Zionsville, Conner Prairie at Noblesville (where the Headless Horseman of "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow" chased their hayride wagon), the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame at New Castle (where they looked up the bricks donated to Don Reason and Kewanna's two sectional championships), and Stony Creek Farm.

Letters To The Editor.....

Ban barrel burning

The household trash we burn today is unlike what grandpa burned in his barrel of yesteryear. Today, burning about 10 pounds of trash in a burn barrel may produce as much air pollution as a modern incinerator burning 400,000 pounds of trash. Dioxins, furans, chromium, benzene, hydrocarbons, cyanide, chloride, cadmium, arsenic and mercury are chemicals that go into the air when household trash is burned. These chemicals pose a significant health risk and public nuisance.

It is estimated that one in five resident households have burn barrels in Kewanee. Why should the majority have to breathe the toxic air pollution of the minority? So many times, trash is burned and left to smolder resulting the stench to 'trespass' onto the neighbors, diminishing their enjoyment of life and property. Barrel burning is unhealthy, unneighborly and unnecessary, especially since recycling is so convenient for our town residents. A ban in barrel burning would take away your liberty to pollute, but a ban would help improve the quality of life for all Kewanee residents.
